

ALBUQUERQUE, — JUNE 22, 1895

MINING EXCHANGE.

The Enterprise Favored by a Practical Mining Man.

Editorial.

In your issue of Saturday, June 15, I notice a letter written by Joseph S. Saint, suggesting the advisability of starting a mining stock exchange in your city. In this letter Mr. Saint enumerates the salient advantages which would follow to the mining interests, and I will add that it will be a great aid for your city in effecting such an organization. There is no question as to the mineral resources of this territory, and were they within the state of Colorado our mining districts, especially the gold districts, would be booming camps to-day. It is a fact that New Mexico has two silver districts, Lake Valley and Raton, which have produced more money for investment than any two mining camps in the western country, and still, with all this, it is an exception when outside capital can be induced to come to our territory. Now, why is this? There is a cause for it. It is not because we have no mineral in New Mexico, but there are other causes, I think. I believe that if Mr. Saint's ideas are carried out some of them will be removed.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

The fair and irrigation congress at Albuquerque, commencing on the 15th of September next, is of national and indeed international importance. It is a meeting of the most interested in the progress of the west, scientists in irrigation, fruit-growers, farmers and breeders from all parts will gather there. Every facility for travel and the shipping of goods will be afforded by the railroads, while the program of events has been selected with the view of meeting the varied tastes of the public.

The renown sought for by individuals, who aim at excelling in any branch of learning, can be attained to the highest extent at Albuquerque. But that most coveted prize, the dissemination of the superiority of local products throughout the country can be gained on this occasion to an extent unequalled before in this territory. The county which can produce at this fair the greatest number of the scientific exhibits in the result of a progressive and intelligent labor will command a recognition from states afar off, and the attention of the intended immigrant will be attracted towards it.

On all sides we hear the report of the preparations of districts to secure appropriate and beneficial exhibition of the specialties in which they pride themselves.

It is a duty which the individual fruit grower owes to his town and his country that his choice production should be carefully selected for this occasion. The desire to show his own success as a grower in this competition, which will be so famous, should be a main consideration, but beyond this the unfeigned superiority of our fruit will be placed under the direct notice of the irrigation leaders of the world. They are too obviously anxious for the advance of irrigation to lose sight of any argument in its favor, such as our exhibit would form, while still further, and this is the climax to our contention, as we have already suggested, the notoriety and publicity thus gained for us is the surest means of attracting population, increased business, greater social comfort and efficacious local government, higher educational facilities and an enhanced value set on those lands, the marvelous productive powers of which have thus been shown to the world at the Albuquerque fair.

We urge our citizens to lose no time in promoting this altogether inexpensive but absolutely necessary project.—San Juan Times.

Delegates.

Delegates to the bremen's convention at Santa Fe (Geo. C. Gundlach, Col. B. H. Harlan, Wm. Mason, Wm. Baird, W. J. Bailey, Chas. Vorhees, Joe Lander) have been appointed.

Kindergarten Graduates.

The citizens most thankfully acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend the second annual commencement exercises of the Albuquerque kindergarten, 323 South Second street, at 8 o'clock p.m., June 21. The graduating class of '95 comprises Stella Brightfoot, Estella Luthy, Robert Hutchinson and Charlie Fowler.

It will be the completion of this year's commencements, and the little girls will interest the public fully as much as the big college graduates.

I have two little grandchildren who are testing this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Cod-liver Oil, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel trouble. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pain in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of the remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my housework. Mrs. W. L. Dussek, Bonanza, Hickman county, Tenn. For Sale 10c. Thos. H. Burgess & Son.

The Remedy.

One of the most interesting features of the Territorial Fair will be the races. Purse will be offered of such importance that the best racing stock in the country will be attracted. President Wever has a list of some of the racers which are expected to be here, and they represent many of the greatest stables in the country.

COLORADO COMING.

Pueblo in Line to Attend the National Irrigation Congress.

INTERESTING IRRIGATION NOTES.

Special Correspondence of the Citizen.

Pueblo, Colo., June 16. Indications point to a large delegation from Colorado to the fourth international irrigation congress, which will assemble in Albuquerque next September. And not only from Colorado, but there will be full delegations from California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The agitation produced by the three previous conventions at Salt Lake, Los Angeles and Denver have been of incalculable value. It has tended to concentrate and systematize the irrigation cause and give it broad impetus. It has brought the irrigation interests more together, caused a better understanding and diffused practical knowledge of irrigation. These conventions have also served to procure better legislation.

The last congress passed an act dividing the land held by the state of Colorado among the districts within the state, and the irrigation districts are now in a position to begin their work, but the work of the irrigation districts has been hampered by the lack of the laws of the state.

At the April Raton fair was not the highlight of the season, but the highlight of